

Welcome to Berg!

We want you to feel right at home here!

So, we have gathered some information that might be of help.

Whether you wish to settle here permanently, or this is just a short stay, there are many questions that you might have. Some of the answers you will find on our website www.berg.kommune.no.

On this website you will also find simple directions for translating to English, German and Lithuanian by using Google Translate.

Feel free to call us on phone number 778 59000 and ask for Wenche Pedersen. She will be able to direct you to the right person, either concerning accommodation or other issues that you might need information about. E-mail: wenche.pedersen@berg.kommune.no.

Being new in Norway, you might find it difficult to find important information about the Norwegian society. The website www.nyinorge.no offers information from public bodies, which could help you in your new everyday life.
